| About the Conference

We are pleased to announce The Lancet Summit: shaping the future of diabetes prevention, a multidisciplinary conference hosted by The Lancet Group.

This contemporary programme will bring together a faculty of world-renowned experts to lead discussion and debate lessons learned in preventing type 2 diabetes and related complications, and the challenges ahead. Dedicated symposia will also focus on preventing gestational diabetes and delaying the onset and progression of type 1 diabetes.

Join the programme!

Abstracts are invited by Jun 12, 2026. A selection of the best abstracts will be nominated for both oral and poster presentations. All other accepted abstracts will be presented as posters only.
